WHAT IS A RESUME?

A resume is your professional advertisement. As its purpose is to convince employers that you have the skills and qualifications they seek, it is an essential part in securing an interview. A resume summarizes your education, experience, skills and credentials as they relate to your employment goals. Did you know that...

- The average time spent by recruiters analyzing a resume is 5 to 7 seconds.
- Unprofessional email addresses are the reason for rejection of 76% of resumes.
- When you put a photo on a resume the chances of it being discarded are up to 88%.
- Poor grammar/spelling issues are one of the top reasons resumes are rejected.

Use this guide for basic instructions on how to develop a resume. Then, set up an appointment with a counselor in the Center for Careers and Transfer to edit and refine your resume.

RESUME FORMATS

Most resumes follow one of the formats listed below. Resumes for new graduates, or those seeking to transition to a new field, are usually one page. Job seekers with extensive experience may need two pages.

Chronological: Most preferred by employers. A chronological resume presents education and work experience in reverse chronological order (most recent first). See page 14 for example.

Functional: A functional resume focuses on skills, specifically your skills that relate to the job you are applying for. This format is most commonly used by those changing fields or seeking a promotion. See page 17 for example.

Combination: For some, a combination of chronological and functional works best. This format features significant skills and achievements while highlighting employment history – in reverse chronological order. See page 18 for example.

Hiring managers spend only seconds viewing resumes – it is important to make your resume easy to follow and pleasing to the eye.

GETTING STARTED

Make sure to...

- Use an easy-to-read font such as Arial, Times New Roman, or Calibri. Font size should be 10-13.
- Set margins to 1 inch on all sides. Reduce margins if you need extra space, but no smaller than ½-inch (margins that are too small make your resume look too busy).
- Check your resume for grammar, spelling, and accuracy.
- Use a combination of Bold or Italics to help your information stand out.
- Use the TAB key instead of the space bar to line up information.
- Use bullet points instead of paragraphs to present your information.
- Keep your formatting consistent throughout the page.
- Save your file as a PDF - use a filename that includes your name (you may only have one file with “resume” in the title but hiring managers will have many).

Make sure NOT to...

- Use a template. Find a format you like and create your own. Templates are often difficult to edit for future use
- Use more than one font.
- List social security number, age, marital status, gender or other personal information.
- Use colored ink, clip art, photos, graphics, or borders.
- Use extra words (“a”, “the”) and pronouns (“I”, “we”).

SAMPLE RESUME CATEGORIES (SECTIONS)

EDUCATION

(Include honors and GPA if above 3.0)

EMPLOYMENT/EXPERIENCE

(Use subcategories of Relevant Experience or Other Experience as needed)

LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE

HEADING (CONTACT INFORMATION)

The resume heading provides information that employers need to contact you. It contains your name, address, phone number, and email address. You may choose to center it or have it at the left margin but make sure it stands out by using a font a point or two larger than the rest of your resume. For example:

John Doe
80 Vandenberg Avenue
Troy, New York 12180
518-629-7326
John.Doe@gmail.com

EDUCATION

List the name of the college, city, and state (no street address or zip code), and complete name of your degree program. This is also where you list academic honors and accomplishments. Only list a GPA above 3.0.

Still in college? Include your degree, major and month/year of anticipated graduation

Associate in Arts, Individual Studies Expected May 2024
Hudson Valley Community College – Troy, NY

Already graduated? Include your degree, major and month/year of graduation

Associate in Applied Science, Human Services May 2021
Hudson Valley Community College, Troy, New York GPA 3.7
Honors: President's List and Dean's List Fall 2018 and Spring 2019

Multiple degrees? Include your degrees and majors starting with the most recent first

Bachelor of Science, Biology Anticipated Graduation May 2025
University at Albany, State University of New York, Albany, NY

Associate in Science, Biological Sciences May 2022
Hudson Valley Community College, Troy, New York GPA 3.7

If you have been out of high school three or more years – it's not necessary to include on your resume unless relevant to the position you are applying for.

EMPLOYMENT AND EXPERIENCE

In this section, list employment with the most recent job first (reverse chronological order). List the name of the organization where you work(ed), city and state, job title and dates employed. Then, list the duties you performed.

Target, Rensselaer, New York

Sales Associate

April 2022 – Present

- Greet customers, respond to questions
- Operate cash registers, manage financial transactions, balance drawers
- Maintain orderly appearance on the sales floor

When the most recent job is NOT related experience, but less recent jobs are related, consider using two categories – “related experience” and “other work experience.”

Other Category Titles for Work Experience:

Related Experience

Clinical Experience/ Rotations

Relevant Experience

Military Experience

Professional Experience

Employment Experience

Internship Experience

Work History

Additional Tips:

- It is no longer necessary to say “references available upon request”.
- Removing dates from employment and education may raise red flags with employers. You can explain gaps in employment in a cover letter.
- As a general rule, only include the last 10 years of work experience on your resume.

CONSIDER WHICH SKILLS TO INCLUDE

Technical Skills are knowledge or abilities needed to perform specific tasks. These can be incorporated into individual bullet points, or as their own category. Pay close attention to the job description and highlight those skills that are emphasized in the posting.

Examples of Category Titles:

Technical Skills
Analytical Skills
Software Proficiencies
Digital Marketing
Coding and Programming

Soft/ Transferable Skills are non-technical skills that relate to how you work. They include how you interact with colleagues, how you solve problems, and how you manage your work. Many students list their soft skills separately on their resume. Instead, we recommend incorporating them into your bullet points and showcasing them in your cover letter. See examples below:

Communication

Resume Example: Launched remote communication processes that increased department productivity

Teamwork

Resume Example: Coordinated with events team members to plan corporate events, from planning to post-event analysis

Organization

Resume Example: Regularly and accurately prepared, reviewed, and delivered invoices for customer base of over 500.

Time Management

Resume Example: Supported multiple client engagements while training new staff members on existing protocols

HOW TO CONSTRUCT A BULLET POINT

Using bullet points makes your resume clear, concise, inviting, and convenient for the reader.

- Begin each bullet with an action verb (see pages 8- 9). Use verbs relevant to your industry. For example, “Design” or “Create” for the fashion industry; “Calculate” or “Audit” for the accounting field.
- Use the appropriate verb tense (i.e., use present tense for current positions and past tense for prior positions).
- Prioritize your bullets, include 3-5 bullets as an average. List bullets by relevance, not by what you spent the most time doing.
- Use statements, not complete sentences (no pronouns).
- Be concise, but include details. Highlight accomplishments and results. For example, “Worked with manager to streamline ordering process”
- Follow the steps below

Examples:

Step 1: What did you do?

- Worked at a day camp and supervised campers

Step 2: Apply “So What?” to each point. What was the benefit? What was accomplished?

What was the reason you did it?

- Supervised campers with a team of co-counselors
- Planned and coordinated daily activities for campers

Step 3: Add results and quantify when possible – include data, number of people responsible for, number of projects completed, etc.

- With the assistance of 2 other counselors, supervised 15 campers ages 5-7
- Planned and coordinated small and large group activities
- Communicated student successes and challenges to parents

Practice:

Step 1- What did you do?

Step 2 – Apply the ‘So What’?

Step 3 – Add results and quantify

WHAT WENT WRONG

Employers spend seconds viewing resumes, why some are discarded right away:

- A silly email address. Create a professional email address for your job search.
- Spelling and grammar errors. Errors indicate carelessness and lack of attention to detail.
- Too many fonts, colors, or other graphics.
- Not using keywords. The resume doesn't match the position you are applying for. Customize your resume for the position you are applying to and include keywords from the job description. (Scan-friendly resume)
- Omitting dates. Dates are important for indicating the length of experience.
- Writing too much. Recruiters want short, bulleted points. They won't read paragraphs.
- Your resume wasn't uploaded as directed.

Other reasons a resume may not lead to an interview:

- The candidate doesn't meet minimum criteria.
- Wording is too general and not relevant to the position.
- Contact information doesn't work (voice mailbox not set-up, mailbox full, unprofessional voicemail greeting).

ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS

Resumes for online applications:

- Many job applications will be completed online through an employer's website or through a job board (Indeed, Monster, etc.). Carefully follow the directions for uploading application materials.
- You may be asked to upload a PDF or copy and paste your resume into the online profile.
- When employers ask for a copy of your resume, do not substitute resumes that have been created from LinkedIn or Indeed.

Electronic Scanning:

Many employers load your submission materials into an applicant tracking database. This allows a recruiter, or even a computer, to scan for keywords that match those used in job postings.

Make sure your resume matches the keywords in the job description

Remember:

- Create one master resume and refine it for different positions.
- Look at other resumes: One of the best ways to write an effective resume is to study examples - several are included in this packet (see pages 13 -18).

COVER LETTERS

Cover letters are business letters that are sent with a resume. If employers request a cover letter, it should be a typed business letter. If employers do not request a letter, it is still best practice to include one. Letters may also be written as the body of an email, if the resume is being sent this way.

Cover letter guidelines (Example on page 20)

This letter includes the name, date and contact information of the person you are sending the letter to, salutation (greeting), letter body, and signature. The body format is as follows:

Paragraph 1 State the Job you are applying for - include the job title provided in the job description. One sentence about why you are qualified for the position.

Paragraph 2 This paragraph should have three to five sentences about how you are qualified for the position. Use good writing skills (sentences must flow, don't start every sentence with "I," and use accurate spelling and punctuation).

Express enthusiasm/interest in the position to make sure your letter sounds more personal and not like a form letter. Write a new letter for each job you apply for (only minor changes may be needed for similar positions).

This paragraph may also be used to address employment gaps.

Paragraph 3 Use this paragraph to thank the employer for their time and provide your contact information for follow-up.

Dear Ms. Jones,

Please accept the enclosed resume as application for the position of Marketing Assistant as advertised on Indeed. I believe that my sales experience, education, and enthusiastic personality will be valuable assets to your company.

I am graduating from Hudson Valley Community College on May 20th with a degree in Business Administration, with a concentration in Marketing. My coursework has included web site design, marketing principles, as well as business communications. In addition, my work at Old Navy has provided me with extensive experience in promoting merchandise, answering customer questions, and meeting monthly sales goals. I also received three awards for encouraging the greatest number of customers to open Old Navy credit accounts at the Albany store.

I am impressed with Esteemed Marketing's excellent reputation as a company dedicated to providing clients with top-notch professional marketing services and believe that I would be a good fit with the organization. I would be happy to speak with you about the position further and may be reached at (518) 555-7586 or JenniferRichards@gmail.com. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Richards
